Greetings Recruiter,

Dear Recruiter,

Hope you are having a great day. First of all, Thank you so much for stopping by my profile. My name is Raghav and I am currently a pre-final year engineering student focused in Information Technology from Ramaiah Institute of Technology. Most of my work lies around building API's and backend applications for my work and my personal projects. I am skilled in Data Structures and have worked with multiple languages like Java, Python etc, and I wish to make a career in software development.

While I am not actually searching for a Full time role right now, I am looking forward to Internships before I graduate in 2021. I am looking forward to an environment where I can learn from senior engineers, System Architects and Database designers. I assure you that I will give my 100% to the work assigned to me.

You will find high level summaries of my Experience and Projects in my Resume. Apart from my job as a developer, I love building tech products, Product Management is something that I want to pursue 10 years down the line in my career. I have built many products right from Requirements identification till Development and Deployment for some as well.

I am open to learning any new technology/framework that is used at your company and is not in my stack right now. I assure you that, I will be a quick learner and will try my best to be an asset to your organization.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Raghav Maheshwari
